In Genesis 26, because the Philistines were jealous of Isaac's success, they clogged up all his wells. This fresh water was the source of life for his family, flocks, and herds. A clogged well is one that has all this potential water ready to flow, but is limited by what is blocking it. Isaac and his men had to reopen and restore those wells to have life-giving water to draw from.

It is the same way with Satan. There is a well of salvation inside you that gives you joy when you draw from it. But like with Isaac, Satan comes and tries to clog up our well. He uses stones of disappointments, stones of hurt, offense, guilt, regrets, and doubt. Now we don't have joy. We are not passionate about our salvation. We need to unclog whatever has stopped up the joy. You may need to forgive someone, let go of the regret, deal with the guilt or doubt, or pull out the stone of not feeling good enough. The well of salvation is God's gift to you. Draw freely from it with great joy.

Isaiah 12:3 "With joy you will draw water from the wells of salvation."
