Our lives go through various seasons, but we are to be about our Master's business. When we labour for Christ, we will find some seasons productive and fruitful. We will see a harvest. At other times the work will appear unrewarded and in vain. But remember what Paul said: "I planted, Apollos watered, but God gave the increase." (1 Corinthians 3:6)

Let us labour for our Master from dawn until the setting sun. Let us preach the Word, in season and out of season. Even misfortune such as shipwrecks can be God's way of guiding us to someone needing the Gospel.

2 Timothy 4:2 "Preach the Word; be prepared in season and out of season; correct, rebuke and encourage - with great patience and careful instruction."
