God has intervened in human affairs in various ways throughout history. Hebrews 1:1-2 notes that God spoke through the prophets “at various times and in various ways”, before speaking ultimately through His Son, Jesus Christ.

God has also spoken and acted through angels - specifically, the “Angel of the Lord” which was the pre-existent Christ (Genesis 16:7; 22:11; Exodus 3:2) and other non-divine angels. (Genesis 24:7, 40; Psalm 91:11; Daniel 6:22) The New Testament clearly teaches that angels are “ministering spirits” sent to help Christians in times of need. (Hebrews 1:14) Some hold to the view that each Christian has a “guardian angel” assigned to protect individual believers based on passages like Acts 12:15. While the Bible never uses the term “guardian angel”, it does consistently note the role of angels in intervening in human affairs.

Never forget that, in addition to the Holy Spirit, we do not walk through this world alone. Stay aware of the fact that God’s angels are walking with us to provide and protect - usually without our being aware of their presence.

Psalm 91:11 “For He shall give His angels charge over you, to keep you in all your ways.”
