Sometimes we let our weaknesses and areas we need to improve in cause us to feel unworthy. We think that once we get it all together, then we can feel good about who we are. But your worth is not based on your performance. There is nothing you can do to make yourself more valuable. To be more disciplined, pray longer, and spend more time with your children is good, but that doesn't make you more valuable. Your true value comes from your Creator.

Don't go through life living performance-based, trying to earn your worth from people. Just believe it and say: "I am forgiven. I am loved and honoured. I am valuable. I have been approved by Almighty God." Every time you say that, you get stronger and more confident. Your self-esteem will increase. Those are the thoughts that need to be playing in your mind throughout the day. Tune out all Satan's lies and get in agreement with what God says about you: You are worthy, you are talented, and you deserve to live an abundant, victorious, healthy, productive, favour-filled life. That is what faith is all about!

Isaiah 43:4 "… you are precious to Me. You are honoured and I love you."
