

All believers go through difficult and challenging times, when on the surface, the pieces of our life don't seem to make sense. We think they can't be a part of God's Plan. It's easy to then become discouraged and think, God, why did you allow this to happen? You have to trust that even then, God does not make any mistakes. He has already designed your life and laid out every piece, down to the smallest detail.

He never said we would understand everything along the way. God didn't promise that there wouldn't be any loss, pain, suffering, or disappointment. However, He did promise that in the end it would all work out for our good. That piece that doesn't look as though it makes sense - when everything comes together, it is going to fit perfectly in place. You just can't see it now because the other pieces are not in place yet.

1 Corinthians 13:12 "...Now we see things imperfectly, like puzzling reflections in a mirror, but then we will see everything with perfect clarity..."
