

When we read about the heroes of faith, their lives seem so exciting, but the truth is that most of their days were routine. Moses experienced one miracle after another, but those involved only a few days of his life. Most of our days will be ordinary days, with some exciting days. If you live from big event to big event, waiting for something exciting to keep you motivated and encouraged, you are going to be disappointed.

Learn to enjoy where God has you right now. This is the day the Lord has made. It may be routine, but when you do the ordinary with a good attitude, that is getting you prepared for the new things God has in store for you. It's about being faithful day in and day out, doing the right thing even when the wrong thing is happening, and staying in faith when you are not getting your way. You won't be promoted if you are not being your best where God has you right now.

Psalm 118:24 "This is the day the LORD has made. We will rejoice and be glad in it."
