

For many years Jacob worked for his father-in-law, Laban, who lied to him, cheated him, and treated him unfairly. Jacob could have walked away in anger, but he took the high road and kept being his best, and Laban's livestock increased abundantly because of the favour on Jacob's life. Then, when Jacob finally decided to leave, Laban begged him to stay, offering him whatever wages he wanted.

You may know people who haven't kept their word to you. They don't value who you are, and take you for granted. Don't be offended. Be a Jacob and keep doing the right thing. They may discount you now, but there will come a time when they recognize they are blessed because of you, and they will then do anything to keep you. When Jacob left, he was not only a very wealthy man, but he left with the respect and the honour that he wasn't given for many years. God is your vindicator. If you stay on the high road, He will make it worth your while.

Genesis 30:27-28 "Laban said to him, "Please stay, if I have found favour in your eyes, for I have learned by experience that the LORD has blessed me for your sake." Then he said, "Name me your wages, and I will give it.""
