

Meek doesn't mean weak. Meekness is strength under control. When you ignore someone's negative comments, when you don't pay attention to other people's insults and criticisms, you are not being weak; you are being meek. You have the power to fight, you have the strength to straighten them out and let them know how you feel, but your strength is under control. You are not wasting your time and energy on things that are not between you and your pre-ordained destiny in Christ. If you stay on the high road, God will take care of your enemies. Remember, He can defend you far better than you can defend yourself.

So don't let other people upset you and steal your peace and joy. You can't control what people think, say or do, but you can control how you respond. Don't let their negative comments upset you. You are not defined by what they say. God defines you. If you maintain your meekness, God will fight your battles.

Matthew 5:5 "Blessed are the meek, for they will inherit the Earth."
