

When God created you, He made sure you were fully loaded and completely equipped for the race that He designed for you. You didn't get shortchanged. So stop wishing you were different, and don't get distracted by what someone else has. As long as you want what they have, you will be frustrated. If you didn't get what somebody else has, that means you don't need it. You are fully equipped for your unique pre-ordained destiny in Christ.

Have a new perspective. Next level thinking says you have the right looks, the right abilities and talents, and the right personality. If you needed to be taller, God would have made you taller. If you needed a different personality, He would have given you one. If you needed to be another nationality, you would be another nationality. God doesn't make mistakes. You have been fearfully and wonderfully made, so be confident in who you are and what you have.

Psalm 139:13-14 "You made all the delicate, inner parts of my body and knit me together in my mother's womb. Thank You for making me so wonderfully complex! Your workmanship is marvellous - how well I know it."
