

Satan (the accuser) will keep reminding you of everything you have ever done wrong. It's easy to live in regret, thinking about what you did or didn't do. Don't go through life looking in your 'rearview mirror', being down on yourself, living in regret. You can't do anything about the past, but you can do something about your future. The moment you asked God to forgive you, He forgave you. Why don't you forgive yourself and empty out all the guilt? Turn off the accusing voices that try to deceive you into living with condemnation.

The truth is that none of us deserve to be blessed. We deserve judgement. This is what God's mercy is all about. That's why it is called "the good news". Your sins have already been paid for and forgiven because of Christ's sacrifice on the Cross. You don't have to pay God back. Whenever Satan says, "You just sinned again!" just answer, "I'm forgiven, and I'm moving forward." Don't let the past poison your future.

Revelation 12:10 "...The accuser of our brethren, who accused them before our God day and night, has been cast down."
