

In Acts 12, King Herod had the apostle James killed and then put the apostle Peter in prison. Chained between two guards in the deepest part of the prison, Peter was to be brought to trial the following day. Meanwhile the church was praying for him throughout the night. Herod did everything he could to keep Peter in, but he didn't realize that he couldn't keep God out. In the middle of the night, an angel came and led Peter past guard after guard and through the final iron gate to freedom, from what would have been the end of Peter.

You are going to see some of the closed doors that should stop you, open of their own accord. It is not going to be anything you do. You are going to be promoted, blessed and rise to new levels, despite who is trying to hold you back. They may try to close the doors to you, but God opens the doors. So stay in peace, because you and God are a majority.

Acts 12:10 "Past the first guard and then the second, they came to the iron gate that led into the city. It swung open before them on its own, and they were out on the street, free as the breeze."
