

When Moses was 120 years old, it was his time to die. God told him to climb to the top of Mount Nebo, and that would be where he would pass on. You would think at his age, Moses would be frail and weak, his knees would hurt, and his eyesight would be poor. You would think he would say: "God, I can't climb a mountain." But Moses was still strong as a young man, still healthy when God took him.

One of the names of God in the Scripture is Jehovah Rapha, which means "the Lord your healer". You may know Him as a Saviour, but He wants you to know Him as a healer as well. Get rid of the notion that as you age, you are going to get frail, be overcome by sickness, and unable to move. Say "No!" to that. Trust God to keep you strong and healthy, still climbing mountains, still taking new ground, still making the world a better place.

Deuteronomy 34:7 "Moses was 120 years old when he died, yet his eyesight was clear, and he was as strong as ever."
