

In Genesis 37, the brothers of Joseph hated him so much that they threw him into a deep pit, and were going to leave him there to die. But just then they saw a caravan of Ishmaelite merchants coming their way, and they decided to sell Joseph to them. What is significant is that the trade caravan had been travelling for months on their way to sell their goods in Egypt. Long before Joseph was thrown into the pit, the answer was already on the way. Long before Joseph had the problem, God already had the answer set up.

God knows what you are going to need, when you are going to need it, and how to get it to you. The problem you are worried about, God has the answer already en route. The vindication, the healing, or the breakthrough is already set up. When you are tempted to worry, remember that everything you need to fulfill your destiny is right on schedule. It may not have happened yet, but what God has ordained is on the way.

Isaiah 65:24 "I will answer them before they even call to Me."
