

God has seen everything that has happened in your life - the injustices, the bad breaks, the people who did you wrong. Those people cannot pay you back. They cannot make you whole. No matter how good a person is, they cannot give you everything you need. Only God can meet your needs. He said He will give you beauty for ashes. He said He will pay you back double for the unfair things that have happened. Stop looking to people to make it up to you. Stop trying to get somebody to apologize, to admit they were wrong, to give you what they don't have. When you let people off the hook and stop trying to make them perform perfectly and keep you fixed, not only will their life be better, but your relationships will improve.

Let people off the hook. If you go to God, He will bring you out better. He will make the rest of your life more rewarding and more fulfilling than if those negative things hadn't happened in the first place.

Philippians 4:19 "My God will meet all your needs according to the riches of His glory in Christ Jesus."
