

For many people, mediocrity is the norm; they do as little as they possibly can to just get by. By contrast, God has called us to be His representatives, His ambassadors, and to be people of excellence and integrity. How you live, how you conduct your business and do your work, is all a reflection on our God. Any hint of compromise or mediocrity will taint our greatest victories or our grandest achievements, as well as keep us from God's best.

When you have a spirit of excellence, it shows up in the quality of everything you do and the attitude with which you do it. The Scripture says that whatever you do, you should give your best effort and do it as if you are doing it for God. You go the extra mile to do what is right, and anything less will cause you to be unhappy. You keep your word even when it is difficult. You give your employer a full day's work, and don't call in sick when you are not. Start aiming for excellence in everything you do.

Philippians 1:9-10 "...that your love may abound more and more, with knowledge and all discernment, so that you may approve what is excellent, and so be pure and blameless for the day of Christ..."
