

On the night before Jesus was crucified, He told His disciples that His hour had come, and He was going to be betrayed and crucified. In today's Scripture verse, He told them, in effect, "You are going to walk through some difficult things in the days to come that you don't understand. You will feel lonely, confused, and afraid. You won't understand it, but you will later." Christ's resurrection would connect all the dots.

As with these disciples, there will be challenges and difficulties you don't understand, but Jesus never said: "You are going to understand everything. Let Me show you My exact plan for you. It all makes sense." He does say He is ordering all your steps. He promises that all things work together for your good. Stay in faith when it doesn't make sense. You are on the verge of seeing Him connect some dots. When it all comes together, you are going to see how it works to your advantage.

John 13:7 "Jesus replied: "You do not realize now what I am doing, but later you will understand.""
