

God's favour on your life means that He will progressively release greater blessings, greater influence, and greater resources. But you need to realize that as others see you succeed, some small-minded people will get jealous and start criticizing, finding fault, and trying to make you look bad. You need to be able to handle the negative that comes with the blessing. If you are going to be offended and upset, if you allow it to bring you into conflict with people, then the blessing won't be a blessing.

You don't need to respond to the negative actions and comments from people who don't like or understand you. Keep your heart pure and don't try to repay them. Be good to those who aren't good to you. Overlook what they say or do. Rather pray, hand them over to God, and then leave them in His mighty hands. The sooner you stop giving the negative your time and attention, the better off you are going to be. You have the grace to rise above it, the grace to ignore it, and the grace to not let it bother you. Step into that grace, and move forward to greater blessings.

1 Peter 3:9 "Don't repay evil for evil. Don't retaliate with insults when people insult you. Instead, pay them back with a blessing. That is what God has called you to do, and He will grant you His blessing."
