

God is the author of your life. He breathed life into you. He chose you to be here. He gave you a purpose, an assignment, something to accomplish. He is not just the author, He is the finisher. He is going to keep making you, moulding you, giving you grace to come up higher until He finishes. The key is don't give up in the middle. Don't get discouraged while you are being changed. He is in control. As long as you are being your best, you don't need to perform perfectly. You need to have a heart to do what is right. Then you can be assured that when it is time to change, all the forces of darkness cannot stop you.

But notice that there is a requirement for this to happen. You need to look away from all that will distract you, and look to Jesus. Focusing on your flaws will distract you from your purpose. Magnifying your weaknesses, what you don't like about yourself etc., will keep you from your potential. Look away from all that, and look to your author. Do your best, and trust God to take care of the rest.

Hebrews 12:2 "...looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith."
