

Are you a 'puddle' or a 'pipeline'? Proverbs reminds us that God blesses those who live according to His will. But His blessings are never intended for selfish consumption. From the beginning, God told His people they would be blessed to become a blessing to others.

Think how God has blessed you - your time, resources, and opportunities. Are those blessings collecting like stagnant puddles, or are they flowing like life-giving streams? The healthiest Christian life is one marked by both receiving and releasing. Ask the Lord today to make you a channel of living water. As you bless others, you will discover something wonderful: God keeps the 'pipeline' full.

Proverbs 22:9 "He who has a generous eye will be blessed, for he gives of his bread to the poor."
