

It is not always the big things that are keeping us from God's best; it is the small things. If we aren't showing respect and honouring our employer or co-worker by doing a small thing that is important to them, that small thing will keep you from your greatness. You cannot be harsh, contentious, and difficult to get along with and reach your potential. Sometimes it involves things we don't feel like doing, even something that doesn't seem fair. At work, you are not getting credit, or someone is not treating you right.

Why should you be kind to them, keep a good attitude, and go the extra mile? God is saying: "Will you do it as unto Me? Will you keep your mouth closed for Me? Will you be kind to that undeserving person for Me? Will you be your best at work for Me?" Do it as unto God. He is the One who matters. Promotion doesn't come from people; it comes from Him. When you do the right thing when it is difficult, when you consistently have a good attitude, you are passing the test. God always rewards faithful people who keep doing the right thing.

Colossians 3:23 "Whatever you do, do it heartily, as to the Lord and not to men."
